11g wireless network The machine was old enough that Apple no longer made WiFi adapters for it.. As I had access to one, I thought it was worth giving it a try anyway These D-Link adapters are quite cheap - around $40-$50 (Australian) - and were readily available at computer stores like Harvey Norman and JB-Hi Fi when this article was written.. 3 5 0 In order to manually update your driver, follow the steps below (the next steps).. Getting the Ralink drivers Drivers that work with this D-Link adaptor can be downloaded from the Ralink web site at: (link updated September 13, 2010) There appear to be 4 different drivers available for different Ralink chipset-based devices.. I'd heard that the D-Link DWA-110 USB adaptor might work, but I'd also read of some problems.. Nonetheless, the chipset in the adaptor is the same as that used by another vendor (Ralink), and those drivers are available online for download.. After the package is installed, the system must be rebooted I just bought the USB wireless donggle and when I tried it on my 64-bit PC, it didn't work because the 'Vista certified' is only for 32-bit version.. The download is a dmg file with driver versions for 10 3, 10 4 and 10 5 (which are in separate folders on the disk image).. All drivers available for download have been scanned by antivirus program Before reading further, please note that I'm documenting my experience here in the hope that others may find it useful.. The package provides the installation files for D-Link DWA-110 Wireless USB Adapter Driver version 1. cea114251b For Mac Music Player
